Product Description

The A7V is the first German tank from the First World War. A total of around 20 units were produced and appeared on the battlefields at the end of the First World War. This slow-moving armoured vehicle, a pioneer in its category, had to contend with many technical problems. However, this did not prevent it from going down in the history of armour and preserving its legend into the 21st century! The crew consisted of around 18 soldiers. The armament included a 57 mm Nordfeld gun and 6 MG machine guns. 08. The miniature model made from COBI building blocks was designed on a scale of 1:72 and consists of 119 high-quality elements. When built, the tank is 11.5 cm long. Despite its compact size, the model retains all the important features of its historical role model! This vehicle is not to be confused with any other! The abundant prints on the A7V deserve special attention. We have applied characteristic markings from the First World War on the model as well as grille and flap prints on the top of the model. The machine guns on the sides are movable. The model can be moved on the ground using invisibly attached wheels. The model is perfect for a good start to your adventure with COBI building blocks. The A7V armoured personnel carrier is also an interesting model and gadget for collectors. It takes up little space and easily finds its place on the desk at home, at work or on the bookshelf. If you are an advanced block designer, the model will certainly offer you very interesting elements. Express your passion through blocks and build history block by block!
