Product Description

Sturmtiger is a German tank gun from the Second World War, built on the chassis of the PzKpfw VI Tiger tank and armed with a special 38 cm rocket mortar (SturmMörser) that fires huge projectiles at a range of 5,600 metres. The Sturmtiger was designed as an infantry support vehicle in street fighting. Only 18 examples of this heavy and complicated machine were built between 1943 and 1945. The STURMTIGER was designed on a scale of 1:28 and consists of 1,100 high-quality elements. When assembled, the vehicle is 23 cm long and contains many eye-catching details. The clamping blocks are printed in high quality and show markings and characteristic details of the vehicle. The vehicle also has interior elements and a removable motor made of clamp-on bricks. The mini engine model can be placed in the vehicle under the service hatch or displayed next to the model. The mortar tube and wheels are movable. We can move the vehicle on well-functioning caterpillar tracks. The set contains four mortar shells. A crane is mounted on the vehicle with which rockets can be lifted. For this set, we have designed a new element that faithfully reflects the shape of the Sturmtiger barrel! The set includes a figure of a mechanic working with an armoured weapon. A detailed and very large model of a heavy mortar is a must for collectors and history buffs.
