From 14 years. Not a children's toy.Brave investigators enter a mysterious house. But there is not only a secret hidden here, but also a sinister threat from beyond reality. The investigators use clues, helpful objects and even spells to overcome locks, puzzles, monsters and their own paranoia. Our insert stows away all the components in a highly sane manner and keeps the manor house tidy.VILL consists of 14 boxes, which can be removed individually and distributed on the game table as desired.Box 1: This is where all the playing cards go, sorted by piles. The states are placed in pairs in one compartment each.Tray 2: Eight compartments for markers and dice.Tray 3: A flat tray for the investigator cards.Trays 4-5: These two trays can be inserted into each other and provide individual spaces for all 16 investigators from editions 1 and 2.Trays 6-13: A total of 8 trays, which can be inserted into each other to form 4 and provide a home for the monster figures.Tray 14: Storage and placeholder at the same time - the angry mob monsters fit in here, but the construction also protects the monsters underneath and supports the card tray above.The game board pieces are stored in two neat stacks and fit neatly between the trays. For those who do not own the 1st edition game board pieces, a placeholder is included to ensure that everything still fits exactly.The game board pieces are placed in the box together with the trays. The rules are then placed on top. The box lid is raised by approx. 5mm. The box can easily be stored on edge.This item is supplied as a kit that needs to be assembled. We recommend the use of wood glue (not included in the package).
