Product Description

You don't need extra storage space for your miniatures, but the terrain pieces and markers are flying around uncontrollably in the box? You already have our foam set (AS10Set), but now you want to store the other accessories as well. Then you can get the matching Feldherr organiser here to store the terrain pieces and sort the game material. - The organiser fits exactly into the original board game box of the "Descent: Legends of Darkness" base game from FFG. It is stored in the top box. - The set offers space for all 47 terrain pieces and the small game accessories (markers and dice) of the base game. - 3 card holders, 1 token holder and 8 additional trays made of robust plastic help you to store and sort the game cards, terrain pieces and small game accessories such as markers and dice. - The cards also fit in protective sleeves. The cards also fit with protective sleeves (max. external dimensions 66 x 91 mm). - All terrain pieces (including the dragon) can be stored in the organiser when assembled. - Includes 4 card dividers to divide the game cards. - The "Premium Health Dials" (Premium Life Wheels) can be stored in the corresponding compartment instead of the cardboard life wheels. - Larger game components - game board parts, documents, hero cards, building instructions, compendium and rulebook - are stored on the organiser. - Transport and tilt-proof- The box closes flush. Place the organiser in the top box. The enclosed instructions will help you do this. Have you already glued the terrain together? No problem, all terrain parts can of course remain assembled. The organiser ensures that the terrain pieces are clearly arranged in the box. It also protects the cardboard pieces from annoying creases and other damage. Three individually removable card holders including 4 card separators help you to sort the playing cards. A token holder with 7 compartments offers enough space to organise your markers in a practical way. The plastic ID markers also have their own compartments and boxes, as do the dice and the wheels of life. This ensures that the game material is properly organised. This saves time when setting up the game and you and your companions can relax and set off on your adventure. There is still enough space on the organiser to store the larger game components. On top are the game instructions, the compendium and the building instructions, as well as the hero cards and documents. The game board components form the final section. A foam set (AS10Set) for storing the miniatures in the basic game box is available separately or as a bundle with this organiser (ORG092). The set consists of: - 3 plastic card holders for playing cards - 1 plastic token holder for sorting the markers - 1 plastic tray for the dice - 8 plastic trays for storing the terrain pieces As with all 3D-printed models, minor imperfections may occur. The product images are only examples of what the finished product may look like. Colours may vary.
