Product Description

Description The next round of Activity party fun is about to begin! This version involves guessing and visualising words that you won't find in any reference book. 660 New and creative Activity terms such as hamster shop or flower onion soup are waiting to be recognised. This makes the new Activity version a little more challenging, but at the same time even more fun to play. Activity pros and Activity beginners alike will quickly get to grips with the game, because after a few practice rounds it becomes clear that although the new terms are made up of compound words, the end of the first word always forms the beginning of the second and together they make up the term you are looking for.
