Product Description

The stand model is a replica of the Elco 80 Torpedo Boat PRM Edition. During the Second World War, the US Navy used a large number of three types of motor torpedo boats: the Higgins with a size of 78 feet and the ELCO with a size of 77 and 80 feet. Each model could be distinguished from the others except for length, configuration, weapons and various other details. The 80-foot ELCOs were the most numerous class: They were realised in five series, for a total of about 300 examples. They were built from mahogany and powered by three 1,350 cv Packard 4M-2500 engines (in the latest series to 1,500) easily exceeded 40 knots. The equipment and weapons were constantly updated and improved thanks to the experience gained in the field and the progressive change of role: as the conflict progressed, in fact, the PT boats left the original task of attacking and disrupting traffic and took on the role of gunboats and deployment near the coast or in canals. The Italeri model reproduces the PT 596 and an 80-foot ELCO from the last batch produced. Kit, instructions, decals
