Product Description

With Azul: The Summer Pavilion Mini, the popular tile-laying game can now be played anywhere. The player rests in the compact version prevent the tiles from slipping. All the game material can be stored in the high-quality cloth bag with press-stud fastener to take with you. The rules do not change, so the complete gaming experience can now also be taken along when travelling. In the mini version of the tactical tile-laying game Azul: The Summer Pavilion, you are also tile layers who have been personally commissioned by King Manuel I to decorate his summer pavilion with mosaics made from the most beautiful tiles. You have to compete with each other to get the best tiles from the factories at the best possible time. But be careful: if you are too greedy, the tiles will break and it will rain minus points. Use the finest materials and be careful not to waste any. Only the best will rise to the challenge. Details- 2-4 players- from 8 years- from 30 min playing time
