Product Description

A site in the mountains has been discovered, but nobody dares to go there until it has been mapped. Here at last is a task for you, an archaeologist with relentless logic. ArcheOlogic is a competitive deduction game in which your goal is to first determine the exact location of the city's buildings. But how can you do this? The Archeoscope, the only research instrument capable of reading the coded maps left behind by the Ancients, will help you. By adjusting the wheels of the archeoscope, you ask it questions, the valuable answers to which you note down and place the corresponding buildings on your map. Think carefully, because some questions take more time to answer than others, but maybe that answer will help you win ... - Polyomino-based deduction puzzle - More valuable clues come at a price Number of players1 - 4 peopleSuitable for12 - 99 yearsPlaying time45 minutesPackaging270 x 270 x 62 mm
