Product Description

The cheeky little leprechaun April, April has had a bit of fun and mixed up the seasons.

Suddenly snowflakes are falling in summer, colourful leaves are already sailing from the trees in spring, pears are ripening in winter and the first buds and blossoms are sprouting in autumn.

Now it's time to master the chaos and be faster than the little goblin.

The game is played directly in the packaging: the four seasons are depicted in the bottom part of the box and separated from each other by fixed hurdles. All the seasons shown are equipped with season balls, but these are mixed up and therefore not always in the right place. There are matching season chips on the table, but there are also four with the cheeky goblin hidden among them.

Now you have to uncover the first chip and bring order to the season balls by blowing. With one breath each, incorrectly placed balls should be moved to where they belong. The game is played in teams against the cheeky goblin. If you uncover all four season chips with the leprechaun before order is established, the game ends and April, April is the winner.
