Product Description

Description Who can hop across the fluffy clouds to the finish line the fastest? In "Cloud Race" by author Brad Ross, two to four children aged five and up embark on a fun race to lofty heights. This entertaining game balances luck and tactics. A good memory and ability to concentrate are always an advantage in "Cloud Race", as you need to memorise the position of the tiles to be revealed. You're lucky if you turn over two tiles with the same motif and make fast progress on the track. The speed of the race above the clouds is determined by the movement points shown on the tiles.
