Product Description

Watch out for laser sensors! Good communication despite the time pressure to search for laser-protected money supplies together and without fluttering nerves. This is the entertaining challenge of the co-operative loot hunt "2gether" for two people aged eight and over, who can try their luck in different levels and bag valuable coins. However, the heists are not quite so simple, as laser sensors are waiting in various rooms that are not visible to everyone. A well thought-out plan should always be at the start of every heist, which can lead to a mansion or a casino, for example. In "2gether", however, the thieving duo only have 30 seconds to discuss successful tactics and a good route to the coins. Then the hunt for the loot begins, using a red and a blue mask. Their coloured foils block out the laser beams of the respective colour. In the manor house, the easiest level, the person with the red mask sneaks through the rooms and draws their path in a continuous line on the game board with a wipeable pen. They cannot see the red laser sensors and are dependent on the second person with the blue mask. This person cannot see the blue laser and can only give verbal commands to move around the room, but cannot otherwise intervene. They also have to keep an eye on the hourglass, as every haul is over after just two minutes. In the hiding place, the number of coins grabbed is immediately analysed - deductions are made if lasers are touched or the time is missed. The only way to leave the room is to bribe the security with coins. And then the game continues with a new round in a new room until the co-operative game ends after four rounds with a final evaluation. You win or lose together. A more challenging version and higher levels in new locations await professionals. - Age: 8 years and up- Persons: 2- Duration: approx. 20 minutes
