Product Description

Menara, board game, for 1-4 players, ages 8+

As a committed team, the players erect a spectacularly towering, winding structure from columns and wondrously shaped temple floors.

Cooperation and static skills are required, because an additional floor has to be added to the temple for every structural mistake. Calm hands, an alert mind and mutual support bring to a successful conclusion what seems to be lost in lofty heights. Every move needs to be considered twice as carefully, because the selection of the construction contract already has its pitfalls: not only temple floors change floors, but columns also move upwards in the building.

Menara is a static building game of the master class and a challenge for everyone who had a steady hand until yesterday.
