Product Description

Mixed double - The memo game for word acrobats, for 2+ players, ages 16+

The memory game for word acrobats. The game, created in cooperation with SZ-Magazin, is original, funny and encourages you to play your own language games. In everyday life, too, pairings such as tree damage and foam bathing or wine stand and stone wall from the weekly mixed doubles column are sought. Particularly funny: beef pig and the double of the German Chancellor Fastmerkel.

The basic rule for this variant of the famous laying card game remains: memorize and uncover pairs of cards. The intellectual starting point, however, is aggravated: In contrast to the original, the cards that belong together hardly look alike. Twisted word pairs have to be put together - flawless anagrams. So you have to think twice around the corner in order to bag the most of the 72 cards in the end. And the really good thing: there are no insulted losers, because every player in the round has way too much to laugh for.

Designed by Mirko Borsche, the former art director of SZ-Magazin, who was voted Visual Leader of the Year at the "Lead Awards 2007".

Warning! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
