Product Description

Norway in the year 860. The half-brothers Thorolf, Yngvi and Digur help the daughters of the Viking prince Halldor to escape. Halldor's revenge is not long in coming. He plunders through the territory of the liberators and gets them banished. The brothers have no choice: with settlers willing to emigrate, they set out for new shores and, after an adventurous sea voyage, reach Catan - the land of the sun. But the island presents the brothers with enormous challenges. Will they stand together to offer the settlers a better future or will this task divide them?
