Product Description

1380 crazy, curious and superfluous factsDid you know? 85 per cent of all people can roll their tongue up like a tube. The 15 per cent who can't do it can't learn to do it. If you throw an ant off a skyscraper, it will most likely survive the fall. If you smoke, you have to fart more. The formation of gas is due to the swallowing of air when smoking. Pippi Longstocking is 9 years old in all the books. In table tennis, players are allowed to play with a racket as big as they want.The book Klugscheisser offers a total of 1380 unbelievable and, admittedly, sometimes a little daft facts about all sorts of things between heaven and earth. A perfect and informative compendium for all fans of pointless facts and anyone who can take nonsense with a sense of humour. Entertaining fun is guaranteed here, with aha moments and unexpected new knowledge. Whether on the go, at home or as holiday reading - the fact is: Klugscheisser is an amusing pastime with an educational effect!Important informationCaution! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
