Product Description

The Leopard I is a second-generation main battle tank developed in Germany in the 1960s. It served in the Bundeswehr and many other NATO armies and became a symbol of German armoured superiority. It is still in service in some armies today, although it has been replaced by more modern tanks. The miniature model made from COBI building blocks was designed on a scale of 1:72 and consists of 147 high-quality elements. When built, the tank is 12.5 cm long. Despite its compact size, the model retains all the important features of its historical role model! Bundeswehr markings are printed on the sides of the vehicle. The turret of the tank is movable and can be rotated. The barrel moves in the up-down direction. The model is perfect for a good start to your adventure with COBI building blocks. Leopard I is also an interesting model and gadget for collectors. It takes up little space and easily finds its place on the desk at home, at work or on the bookshelf. If you are an advanced brick fan, this model offers you very interesting elements. Express your passion through building blocks and build history block by block! - 147 high quality elements, - made in the EU by a company with over 20 years of tradition, - meet the safety standards for children's products, - fully compatible with other brands of building blocks, - blocks with imprints do not deform or fade during play or when exposed to temperature, - clear and intuitive instructions based on drawings and symbols, - model dimensions (L x H): 12.5 cm (4.9") x 5 cm (2") - from 6 years of age
