Product Description

The world's only preserved and functional German Tiger tank from the Second World War can be found in The Tank Museum in Bovington (Great Britain). It is the museum's biggest attraction and a real "star" among all tanks! The world-famous Tiger 131 was manufactured in 1942. In May 1943, it was captured by British forces during the fighting in Tunisia. After the war, it was transported to the UK and displayed in a museum exhibition where, after thorough conservation, it became a priceless souvenir and a living history lesson! The miniature model made from COBI building blocks was designed on a scale of 1:72 and consists of 144 high-quality elements. When built, the tank is 11 cm long. Despite its compact size, the model retains all the important features of its historical role model! German markings are printed on the sides of the vehicle. Details such as service flaps and engine ventilation are also printed on! The tank can be moved thanks to the mounted wheels. The turret of the tank is also movable and can be rotated. The model is perfect for a good start to your adventure with COBI building blocks. The Tiger 131 museum tank is also an interesting model and gadget for collectors. It takes up little space and easily finds its place on the desk at home, at work or on the bookshelf. If you are an advanced block designer, the model offers you very interesting elements. Express your passion through clamping blocks and build history block by block! - 144 high-quality elements - manufactured in the EU by a company with over 20 years of tradition - meets the safety standards for children's products - fully compatible with other brands of clamp blocks - blocks with imprints do not deform or fade during play or under the influence of temperature - clear and intuitive instructions based on drawings and symbols - model dimensions (L x H): 11 cm (4.33 inches) x 4 cm (1.57 inches) - from 6 years of age
