Product Description

Kronologic-Paris 1920 Some strange things happen at the Paris Opera in the 1920s: a famous detective is poisoned after investigating at the opera the day before, a supposed phantom is up to mischief and a wealthy soprano is robbed of her necklace. In Kronologic - Paris 1920, it is up to the players to solve the mysterious events. To do this, they visit the locations of the opera and find out who was where and when. Each location contains information about which characters were there at which times - some of this information is revealed to the whole group, while the rest is only revealed to a single person. Whoever thinks they have found the answers to the open questions can attempt to solve them. If all the answers are correct, this detective wins and the game is over. Otherwise, the others may continue to puzzle. Kronologic - Paris 1920 is a deduction game with three scenarios, each containing five cases of increasing complexity. Important notes Attention! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
