Product Description

"Hitster Bingo" is even more colourful, even more exciting and even louder. This new variant combines the Hitster game principle with bingo. Part of the game is a colourful glowing disco ball that determines the category of the current round. The corresponding card is then scanned and the song is automatically played on Spotify thanks to the free app. Now it's a matter of recognising the singers or bands, guessing the appropriate decade of release, specifying the exact year of release and estimating whether the song was released before or after the 2000s. The first person to complete a row or column with the four different categories is the "Hitster Bingo" champion. 225 hits from different decades take players on a musical journey through time and invite them to test their music knowledge.- for 2-10 players- from 16 years- playing time 30+ minutes
