Product Description

The Café de Paris is in urgent need of renovation to ensure that it continues to attract numerous guests. The players compete in Intarsia for the contract for the coveted work on the parquet floor. To win the contract, they must prove their skills by refining the floor with stylish inlays and outdoing their competitors with new tools. Each floor ornament can consist of one to four delicate wooden elements that are puzzled together from the outside in. The more pieces the ornament consists of, the more victory points it earns! During the construction phase, wooden elements can be paid for with material cards and built according to the building rules. Whoever fulfills the requirement for a tool receives the tile that scores points. Only the person with the best building skills can secure the contract and give the café a new lease of life! The B-side of the floor board offers variation for this clever and high-quality placement game. Important information Caution! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
