Product Description

Take points, give points: Both together can lead to success in Charidice. On your turn, you have up to three throws to achieve the best possible result for yourself. You either score all the dice of one colour or exactly one die per colour. If you fulfil certain combinations, such as roads, there are bonuses on top. The special highlight: the points on the unevaluated dice are given to the person to your left. Whoever has given away the most points at the end of the game will receive a decent karma bonus to compensate, which could possibly decide the game. A quickly learnt, entertaining dice game. Caution: Not suitable for children under 36 months!
