Product Description

The Token Silo XL is the perfect token box for tabletop and board games. It comes with a new extra long compartment for storing movement/range templates. The Token Silo XL stores and organises a wide variety of tokens, templates, cards, dice and many other items. There are 15 compartments in 5 different sizes, including 2 mini-American size compartments, 2 standard size card compartments, and 1 extra long compartment. All compartments are fully removable and can be interchanged with compartments from the original Gamegenic Token Silo and Token Silo Cards add-on, providing maximum flexibility and additional customisation options. The lid of the Token Silo XL can be attached to the underside for easy access and to secure more space on the gaming table. It is made of durable material, easily stackable and available in different colours.
