Product Description

As a relay runner through the Andes! As a "Chasqui", or relay runner, you bring important information on behalf of the "Sapa Inca", the Inca ruler, from the capital Cuzco to the individual villages of the Inca empire "Tawantisuyu". Once you have brought the information to a village with your character, you will receive a feather as a reward to decorate your headdress. In Cuzco itself, you can carry out research at the university to increase your status or run a flourishing agricultural business. All of this is done with the help of dice, which you use as carefully as possible on the various action fields. Whoever keeps the best overview and plays with foresight will ultimately be victorious and win the favour of the "Sapa Inka". - Number of players: 2 - 4 people- Recommended age: 14 years and up- Playing time: 75 - 120 minutes- Packaging: 295 x 295 x 77 mm
