Product Description

FOR SALE: The game world Do you think that estate agents often rip off house buyers? Then show us that you've got all the financial tricks up your sleeve! As an estate agent, you try to rake in money while driving your competitors to ruin - by letting them buy junk properties way above market value. Are you a good judge of the value of houses and can you bag the biggest cheques? FOR SALE: The game idea Equipped with a bundle of banknotes, you bid on properties to buy them as cheaply as possible. Use your balance wisely and force the other interested parties to blow their budget. Then sell your houses for as much as possible and be rewarded with juicy returns! This entertaining family and party game combines classic and original bidding mechanisms with great visuals and lots of interactive elements. Easy to play, clever in many ways and endlessly fun! This is the game material Buy the best houses while the prices are low ... and then sell them on for a lot of money! House cards: 30 lovingly designed properties with the values 1 to 30 are waiting for you! Try to buy a space station or a castle as cheaply as possible - and cash in big time with a cardboard box or a rickety caravan. Banknotes: 84 banknotes per $1,000 are distributed among the players. You should manage your budget well! Cheques: In the second part of the game, you have to sell your properties for a profit. You compete with your fellow players for 30 cheques: 28 with a value of $2,000 to $15,000 - each cheque is given twice. But watch out: You definitely don't want the 2 "INVALID" cheques with a value of $0! - Recommended age: 8 years and up - Number of players: 3-6 people - Playing time: 20 minutes - Language: German
