Background information The Hermann Marwede has been in service and stationed on Helgoland since summer 2003. She symbolises the heroic history of the German Maritime Search and Rescue Service (DGzRS), which has rescued over 76,000 people since it was founded in 1865. With a maximum speed of 25 knots and equipped with an on-board hospital, crane, inflatable boat and helicopter deck, this ship represents the pinnacle of modern sea rescue. The model kit not only honours the technical achievements of the Hermann Marwede, but also the tireless efforts of the sea rescuers, who are financed exclusively by donations.
