Product Description

Human civilisation can take many forms. Now you can take responsibility for one of them. But be warned, there are other civilisations, global catastrophes and dark ages. Which path will you take with your civilisation? In Nova Era, you develop your civilisation by expanding territories, recruiting celebrities and researching technologies to become the most advanced civilisation. But beware of catastrophes, social unrest and decisions that can trigger a dark age! Only the wisest ruler will create the most successful civilisation! By cleverly using the 4 areas of influence in society and building up your own civilisation in an interesting way, each game is varied and develops differently. As resources are determined by dice, you are bound to have a bit of luck and chaos.
