Product Description

We are now sailing to the islands in the east - or west, depending on where you are in relation to them. Your title here is "Emperor". They told you that you're just a greeter, but you can still order anything you want for breakfast. Maybe they're right, you got the breakfast you wanted. Your ceremonial sword is only made of cardboard, just like your armour. The samurai never let you to their tea parties and the ninjas always tie your shoelaces. And the epic poem they dedicated to you only has 17 syllables. Rice is now used as currency and no one even tries to get your face on the grains. But when you wake up in the morning and look out over your land, you don't think your life is so bad. So what's for breakfast today? Dominion Rising Sun is the 15th DOMINION® expansion and can only be played with a complete base game or the base cards. The game can be combined with all DOMINION® expansions. It introduces 300 new cards, including a new card type. Also included are markers, lots of great and exciting new cards and dividers for the separately available collector's box. Important instructions - Not suitable for children under 36 months- Toys inside. Adult supervision recommended.
