Product Description

The life of an office worker is no walk in the park! New cases every day, lengthy meetings, hard-to-achieve KPIs, constantly looming deadlines and in between you have to make time for a cup of coffee and the latest gossip about business, private matters and, of course, your colleagues. So you're faced with a huge task! In At the Office, you have to organise the work of your entire team with rationality, intuition and luck. Your task is to think outside the box and lead your team in such a way that you collect as many points as possible and become boss of the year. Grab your pens and dice and get started! At the Office is a game in which the dice decide whether you fill your sheet with the right values. On the one hand you have to use your planning skills to fill in your sheet as well as possible, on the other hand you have to rely on unpredictable fate, because you never know what the next round will look like. Package contents: Game board 5 dice: 4 coloured with eyes and 1 white with numbers Notepad with sheet music 4 pencils Instructions For 2-4 players Recommended for children aged 8 and over. Warning! Not suitable for children under 3 years. Contains small parts that can be swallowed - choking hazard!
