Product Description

DSA5 - Aventurian Animatorium (DE)

Immortal, animated constructs spring from the animatoriums of Aventuria in order to serve their constructors as guards, fighting machines, mute servants or research partners. The magical workshops and their creators shaped ages and regions, their ingenious inventions are revered and feared. The Aventurian Animatorium is the ultimate game aid for creating, controlling and maintaining constructed beings. It presents numerous materials from which golems, automata and homunculi can be created. The peculiarities and abilities of golems made of all imaginable materials are presented in detail and provided with ready-to-play values that can be personalized according to your own needs with powerful refinements such as astral memory crystals, star metals and much more. For inspiration, the Aventurian Animatorium offers the entire history of golemancy and introduces luminaries in the art of golem construction. But mundane mechanics and arcanomechanics enthusiasts are not neglected either: Around 25 machine models in mundane and magical design are presented, including everyday helpers, traps, combat and load machines for every occasion. This is rounded off by the introduction of well-known machine tinkerers and the history of machine development. Between bubbling cobs, in mossy hermit huts and in the appearance of academic creative madness, 5 species of homunculus also rise from the animatorium to pursue their craft with genius and madness at the side of their creators. Their history and experts are also presented and differences between golems, automata and homunculi are worked out. Finally, this game aid contains the adventure sketch The Living Palace: This mechanical organism has survived in the desert sand for centuries and now, uncovered by the starfall, calls for legendary heroes who dare to be swallowed by it in order to access the treasures in its stomach get.
