Product Description

Private Eye - death and other inconveniences, adventure volume 3, 56 pages (DE extension)

Unholy things on the "Holy Island" Lindisfarne. A desperate call for help leads the detectives there. But despite their best efforts, they are too late. Because now he lies dead in an open pit, in the back corner of the garden, the bloody spade only a few steps away. Morton Chiswick, the "Mogul of Rio", is no longer, just his letter to the detectives, in which he begs their help against an unknown threat. And so, one early June morning in 1887, they stand in the rain-soaked grass of the island of Lindisfarne in front of the result of an unholy

In the middle of the night, three dark figures suddenly tore Chiswick from the side of his terrified wife. Now the pit is his unfinished grave. Everything seems clear, the job ended before it started. It just seems like that ...

This adventure by Martin Lindner, published for the first time for Private Eye, confronts the players not only with a beautiful and unusual setting, but also with a case in which they have to pull out all the stops of their detective skills.

Warning! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
