Product Description

A light in the mist
Brackland: a region in the north-west of the Deceiver's Land. Vast swamps and bogs characterise this region, as well as deep and rotten forests. The mists are thicker here than elsewhere, and a gloomy feeling weighs heavily on the minds of those who have ventured too far in. But perhaps there is still hope, something that could light up the fog ...
Tasks await daring soul catchers here!
In this adventure volume you will find a single adventure as well as the eponymous campaign consisting of five connected adventures.
Helpless by Jörg Köster
The sins of the past catch up with a small mining town. The player characters find themselves at the centre of a web of lies. They soon realise that they are up against far more powerful opponents than just ghosts.
A light in the fog by Günther Lietz
The people in the town of Hort am See are simple and good-natured. But inexplicable incidents unsettle them and set them against each other. The atmosphere is tense. A few weeks ago, one of their most magnificent boats, the Sea Serpent, set sail at dawn and never returned. Now some fishermen report that they have sighted the sea serpent at the edge of the fog and have even heard calls from there. People are also being killed at night in a variety of ways. The horror is spreading ...
