Product Description

What's wrong with you? Haven't we all asked ourselves: What's wrong with you? Get ready for things to get a bit playful, a bit physical and a bit weird between you and the others... What's wrong with you? is a card guessing game from Exploding Kittens in which you explain, draw or mime with unnecessarily strange restrictions. In each round, one person gives clues. They have to follow a series of rules and there is always a catch that makes the whole thing a little more difficult. Have you ever tried to explain the word "carrot" while sticking out your tongue the whole time? Or draw the word 'remote control', but your forehead has to touch the tabletop the whole time? Your team wins if it can guess more words correctly than the other team within the time limit.
