Product Description

Discordia (2nd edition) In Discordia, you manage and develop your Roman city on the Rhine by building farms, barracks, towers, harbours and markets. Deploy your sailors, soldiers, merchants and farmers profitably, but you must always act carefully so that your city grows neither too quickly nor too slowly. Will you be the governor of the most developed city at the end of the fourth year, or will you even manage to impress the empress before then and win the game early? What has changed compared to the first edition of Discordia: Full doublelayer player boards, a game board directly ready to play, so nothing needs to be tinkered with beforehand. The box also has an insert in which all the tiles can be sorted so that the game can be set up more quickly and you can start playing straight away. In addition, there are not only two separate game rules (DE + EN), but these have also been completely revised (errors corrected and readability improved). Important notes Caution! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
