Product Description

Who will build the best neighbourhoods in the city? Two architects cavort on the Urbinoboard and look over the city to be built. Each of the two players wants to build the most beautiful and interesting neighbourhoods, with lots of houses, palaces and towers. There is a battle for every good building site. Both architects are always needed to get hold of the best building sites and expand their own city. You can only build where the two players' lines of sight intersect. And as even architects cannot see through buildings or around corners, every move must be carefully considered. In the end, only the neighbourhoods in which both players have buildings count. The player with the higher total building value receives the victory points for the neighbourhood, the other builder goes away empty-handed. Caution! Not suitable for children under the age of three. Small parts can be swallowed. - For 2 players aged 10 and over - Playing time: 30 - 40 minutes - Solid beech game board, oiled, 25 x 25 cm - 2 architects (red playing pieces) - 18 houses, 6 palaces and 3 towers in 2 colours Urbino was chosen as the winner by MindDSpiele e.V. in 2019.
