Product Description

Zoom Strategy in a double pack by Frank Stark Zoom- Four balls in a square The shortest route is not always the best Which player will be the first to form a square of 4 balls in the inner field of the game board? The game is played from the outer fields inwards and each ball can move as far as it likes in a straight line. The trick is that all free outer squares can be used to enter the inner square. (playable from 6 years) TriHop- A tactical three-hop game. The game is played from the inside to the outside - and at least once around the corner on each move. In the second game, Trihop, the objective is the other way round. At the start, the board is empty and the players take turns placing their pieces in the inner square. Whoever has placed the last ball begins their first move and makes their first "Trihop" (three-square jump). The aim of the game is to be the first to reach any target square with all of your own balls. (playable from 8 years) Caution! Not suitable for children under the age of three. Small parts can be swallowed. Game board made of solid beech, oiled, 20 x 20 x 2 cm Game pieces are marbles in 2 colours
