Product Description

Game board set - The Era of the Golden Emperor A battle with several participants can be a confusing affair. To ensure that neither players nor the game master lose track of things, we offer you game boards for battle locations on which you can depict the positions of the combatants with your game markers or miniatures to keep battles and other scenes clearly organised. If two markers are close to each other on the game board, the corresponding combatants are within range for close combat. In this booklet you will find full-colour game boards for five different combat environments in the era of the Golden Emperor.
