Product Description

A battle with several participants can be a confusing affair. To ensure that neither players nor the game master lose track, we offer acrylic marker sets that you can use to represent the positions of the combatants in order to keep conflicts and other scenes clear. If two markers are close to each other on a game board, the corresponding combatants are within range for close combat. This set contains a total of 74 acrylic markers with beastmen, nymphs, bards and other fairy creatures from the Creatures of the Otherworld volume, which are suitable for depicting combat encounters, for example.
