Product Description

The 1:35 scale floor model is a replica of the M1 howitzer with crew. This marked the modernisation of the United States artillery. The first use of medium artillery was produced in 1942 and was still serving towards the end of the Second World War. The howitzer had a range of 14,600 metres. The service life of the howitzer proved its durability and longevity. Even after the Second World War, the howitzer was still used during the Korean War and the Vietnam War before it was finally replaced by the M198 howitzer.
