Product Description

In Anno Domini, events must be placed in the correct chronological order. However, this does not depend on exact knowledge. After all, who knows whether "the foundation stone for the construction of the first locomotive factory" was laid before or after "the world's first toothpaste in tubes". Those who are good at bluffing have the best chance of being the first to get rid of their cards and win. The right mix of well-known and curious events guarantees plenty of fun for the whole family.
