Product Description

Mordred wanted to claim his father Arthur's throne for himself and travelled to the fairy world in search of allies. But the magic he learnt there has fused the two worlds together and plunged them into chaos. Now Arthur has disappeared and the most powerful factions in the land are fighting for supremacy. In Mordred, you control one of four unique factions to win the favour of the great leaders of Britain and rule the land. The world descends into chaos after Mordred, son of King Arthur and self-proclaimed pretender to the throne, merges it with the fairy world through a spell. In this asynchronous strategy game, you must fight mighty beasts, make good use of your faction's unique abilities and your scarce resources to gain supremacy at Camelot's court. Capture territories, increase your influence, fight skilfully in battles to suffer fewer losses and conquer the land. But don't forget perhaps your most important resource: time.
