Product Description

Horrible Therapist...a patient sits on the couch: Psychiatrist: "What brings you to me today?"- Players: 3-8- Age: 18+- Minutes: 15+In the party game Horrible Therapist, you create short horrible comics in an imaginary therapy session. Whoever plays the funniest final card wins. When playing, you put together a three-part comic. This begins with a question, followed by an answer and finally a therapy session. You receive a point if your therapy is chosen as the best final of the comic. Get ready for the weirdest, most macabre and raunchiest comics you've ever read. This game was created by comic artist The Oatmeal, who spent many years in therapy where he often had intrusive thoughts. Intrusive thoughts are unexpected images that pop into your head. Instead of keeping these terribly macabre and funny images to himself, he poured them into this card game ...Want to have a go?
