Product Description

On the trail of nature, learning game (DE), for 2-4 players, ages 4+

In the children's game "On the trail of nature" you learn a lot about the animals and trees in the local forests. The children find out together which traces belong to the fox, deer, wood mouse and Co. The young researchers have to be very careful, otherwise the time turntable will continue to turn and the animals will not make it to their native forest in time for darkness. If all tracks are recognized, the players have all won together.

Logical thinking and concentration are required. As a variation, the appropriate leaves and fruits can be assigned to the forest trees. The knowledge can also be expanded further, because the maps also reveal further interesting information about the animals and trees. Educational games that are really fun:
