Product Description

Discover the world, board game (DE), for 2-4 players, ages 5+

In the children's game "Discover the World", questions like: Where do zebra and elephant live? Who knows the Statue of Liberty and who knows where the pyramids are? Many pictures invite 2-4 children to discover the earth and to assign the animals to the continents. The little explorers compare the cards with the game board and find the locations of the motifs shown. Then the children complete these pictures of animals or sights, win the most points and take home the victory.

In doing so, they repeat their assignment and memorize their knowledge of geography or the home of the animals. Without any text for initial orientation on the world map or with additional information on the back of the motif cards, the game grows with the children. Educational games that are really fun:

This is the motto of the educational game series by Ravensburger, with which children are supported in their development in the most intensive learning years.
