Product Description

After the second civil war of the Roman Republic, fought between Caesar and Pompey, the city of Corduba was razed to the ground. Two decades later, Emperor Augustus decided to restore the city to its former glory and sent members of Rome's most influential families to oversee the reconstruction. You represent one of these families. Corduba is an expert-level worker placement game with a tile placement aspect in which up to 4 players compete for influence in the Senate. You must plan the reconstruction of the city by managing resources, workers and specialists under the watchful eye of Rome. The larger the city grows, the more actions you have at your disposal, which in turn give you more and more strategies for your victory. Plan carefully, develop your player board, fulfil Rome's demands at the end of each decade and become the dignitary that Corduba needs. Important notes Warning! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
