Product Description

Inferno is based on the Divine Comedy by Dante Alighieri. It immerses you in both his masterpiece and the city where Dante was born. Florence in the 14th century - you are rival families trying to become as influential and infamous as possible. Not only in the city itself, but also in the hell below. Deliver the souls of sinners to the underworld and use your contacts to unscrupulous personalities in the city. Help the damned cross the River Acheron and lead them to their predestined circle of hell to collect dishonour in return. But beware of the guardians of hell: Cerberus, Medusa, Minotaur and others may stand by your side, but if others gain their favour, they will turn against you. With each new soul that enters hell, Dante's descent brings him closer to purgatory, where his path ends. Whoever has consigned the most souls to eternal torment in a circle of hell receives dishonour points. Collect as many of these as possible to win the game as the most disgraceful family.
