Product Description

A coordinate system? Snore! But it's not just any coordinate system... Does toilet paper burn faster than a tent? Would I rather take matches or a battery to a desert island? Deal with such bizarre questions and find the perfect places for your words! 4-14 players 10+ ages 20+ minutes In the competitive party game Places for Words, you try to place words in the right place in a crazy coordinate system so that your fellow players can guess them. There are bizarre criteria on the axes that you have to use to categorise your secret word. The reference word in the centre will also help you. Guess the other players' terms and give good clues yourself to score the most points. Make a good guess about the others and find the right places for your words!
