Product Description

For all those who are fit in history, the themed edition "History" is a good choice. Simply swap the 100 new questions with half the set of cards from the Smartbox of the original game or the Family Edition and nothing stands in the way of further exciting quiz rounds.

Questions such as "Which Greek deity is responsible for sleep?", which states were members of the Warsaw Pact or whether the end of the 100-year war was in the 15th or 16th century are sure to get history pros aged 14 and over thinking or gambling.

There are ten possible answers per question, which are covered with markers. The player whose turn it is chooses one of them, checks whether it is correct and passes the smart box on to the next player. If you don't want to give an answer, you had better pass, because if you are wrong, you lose all the points you have collected in the current round. Who knows the right answers or guesses the best?

The pack contains 50 cards printed on both sides with new questions and answers for even more playing fun.

Attention: not suitable for children under 36 months!
