Product Description

The mercilessly funny "Oh Pardon!" and the cheerfully colourful "Colour Race" are now available with well-known illustrations from the classic picture book "Das kleine Ich bin ich" by Mira Lobe and Susi Weigel.

The Piatnik children's games in the "Little I Am" look contains the children's game classics "Oh Pardon!" and "Colour Race".

While the latter is a very peaceful game in which the children use colour cubes to move their game piece from colour field to colour field in order to reach the goal, nerves can quickly get the better of them in "Oh Pardon! Because here, the other players' pieces are thrown whenever possible. The player who can circle the board the fastest with his four pieces and also get them to the finish line wins.

The game boards of the two classics each show beautifully illustrated stations that "Little I am I" visits on its unique journey. He is on his way to find an answer to his question "I want to know who I am". So the newly designed games not only bring lots of fun, but also stimulate children's imagination at the same time.

Attention: not suitable for children under 36 months!
