Product Description

Adventures & Academia First Class is a collection of magical college characters for 5e roleplaying games. Your adventures are sure to graduate with this set of six pre-assembled, highly detailed PVC miniatures, each representing an iconic roleplaying class.

Bladepaw, Virro and Arralus are the cunning group of students who represent House Cunning, home to rogues, bards, rangers and all those who study knowledge itself and spend their time in libraries deciphering ancient mysteries.

In Arinise, Crestir and Rahiga we have the contingent of House Divine. This house welcomes clerics, paladins and druids: those who have made a covenant with their faith. When they pray, something answers.

House CunningRangers, rogues and bards are the creative thinkers of this house, filling the gaps left by the other houses. Their studies focus as much on the application of their knowledge as on knowledge itself. No one can remember the answer to every riddle ever written, though many have tried, but learning how to deconstruct the wording to find the answer is far more useful.

House DevineThis house balances interference from powers outside the mortal realm with those of the individual. To wield such power is as much a burden as a privilege, a hard lesson that all students of House Divine must learn in one way or another. The House houses clerics, paladins and druids who have made a covenant with the faithful, the gods or the land. Those to whom something answers when they pray.
