Product Description

Acrylic marker set Future in the Sand A battle with several participants can be a confusing affair. So that neither player nor game master lose track of the situation, you can use the acrylic markers in this set to show the positions of the combatants so that you can keep an eye on conflicts and other scenes at all times. If two markers are close together on a game board, the corresponding combatants are within range for close combat. This set contains 35 acrylic markers for master characters and opponents from the adventure anthology Future in the Sand, which are suitable for depicting combat scenes, for example. To use the acrylic marker set Future in the Sand, we recommend the adventure anthology Future in the Sand as well as the publications of the series Tools of the Master for rules for playing with acrylic markers. Caution! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
